V. Student Spotlight

Alexander Poltzer, FL Poly sophomore majoring in Applied Mathematics, addressed the Board. He was homeschooled and always interested in building things and taught himself calculus at the age of 12 in order to know enough math for the projects he wanted to create.

When looking for a college, Alex wanted a STEM school with a rigorous curriculum within the state of Florida in order to take advantage of the Bright Futures scholarship program. He is also the recipient of the Randy K. Avent Family Scholarship and maintains a 4.0 GPA. He stated he likes that the classes at FL Poly are very comprehensive not only in his major, but also in courses such as American History. He said FL Poly has an atmosphere and rigor that promotes critical thinking and self-improvement

Outside the classroom, he enjoys participating in the intramural flag football league and the ultimate frisbee team. In the dorm, he enjoys billiards and table tennis.

Alex is hopeful FL Poly will have a master's program in applied math by the time he graduates in two years. He plans to earn a PhD in math and after working in the field, would like to teach because of his love for a rigorous learning environment.

In the future, Alex hopes to open a "Maker's Space" which would be a shared lab space offering monthly membership for 24/7 access. "Makers," "hackers," "tinkerers," "doers" would all have access to various equipment as well as project storage space. This would apply to individuals who have ideas but lack equipment and space to develop skills and creativity. He would like to include hours for homeschoolers to get them interested in STEM at an early age. He wants to create a space that will inspire people and enable them to realize their ideas.

VI. Leadership Updates

A. Foundation Board Chair

Chair Harrell reminded the Board of the Excelerate 2024 gala on March 23 and encouraged all to attend.

B. University President

Dr. Avent stated we are currently in the legislative season and as such he has spent a great deal of time in Tallahassee. He has reported the following:

1. FL Poly has done everything we promised we would do:

- Building a university
 - First Five Years
 - Created a new curriculum and new degrees all focused on engineering and mathematical sciences
 - Grew the university to 1300 students in the first three years
 - Built a university and infrastructure that supported academic and administrative operations
 - Achieved regional accreditation through SACSCOC and ABET
 - Second Five Years
 - Focused strongly on improving student quality
 - We now have the second highest SAT scores in the state for public universities
 - We have the best student career outcomes of any school in the state in terms of starting salary
 - Our graduate students have the lowest student debt in the state
 - Third Five Years
 - Focus on growth
 - Increase our impact
 - Grow more mass – have more things for students to do outside the classroom
 - Grow the campus infrastructure
 - 🚧 New dorm – 430 beds – open Fall 2024
 - 🚧 Gary Wendt Engineering Building – groundbreaking April 2024 – will contain labs, offices and teaching space
 - 🚧 IFF – soft opening in late February

- ✚ Campus Control Center (includes an emergency operations center)
- ✚ Student Achievement Center – currently have a draft design of what the building could look like – will include student services, some form of a food court, potential conference center and a student union. Last year, the legislature appropriated funds; however, the governor vetoed the funding. We are currently trying again to get the legislature to appropriate money. The Senate did allocate money for this building, but the House did not. This is a $70M building with the possibility of getting $55M from the state. The university will need to find a way to raise the remainder.
- ✚ We have a much more active student body. Dr. Kathryn Miller, Vice Provost of Student Affairs, would like to see more fields and activities and has created an initial design to add two more fields and a field house which may contain an e-sports arena
- ✚ Projected approximately 1,000 additional students within the next 3-5 years
